

Miriam Manglani

Origami Paper

folded into birds
take flight in sunlight.

Colors scintillate
in her kaleidoscope of wonder,

each one a testament to the lives she will create

with just the seed of one growing inside of her.

They hang from a mobile where they fly

with tiny strings tethering them to the curtains of her dreams.